PRODUCTS: Annual Reviews Journals: 41 comprehensive, authoritative journals in the Biomedical, Life, Physical, and Social Sciences, including Economics. Founded in 1932, with the Annual Review of Biochemistry, Annual Reviews continues to expand its scope to new disciplines. In 2014, Annual Reviews launches the following three new journals, all with complimentary online access during their first year: Annual Review of Statistics and Its Application (January), Annual Review of Organizational Psychology and Organizational Behavior (March), and the Annual Review of Virology (September).

AVAILABILITY: Annual Reviews offers a variety of collections solutions and site licenses for institutions and consortia worldwide. Annual Reviews Mobile allows users to pair institutional subscriptions to access articles on-the-go and personalize browsing options.

DESCRIPTION: Annual Reviews intelligently synthesizes relevant primary research – including books, articles, and data – to report important ideas and trends. Comprehensive overviews prevent duplication of research effort, address conflicting studies, and suggest effective new research directions. The articles and their extensive bibliographies guide readers to the most significant literature within a topic. Annual Reviews continues to invest in technology and endorse industry standards, such as offering COUNTER-compliant usage statistics and participating in the KBART Recommended Practice for metadata transfer, to help libraries and their technology partners provide seamless access to its online journals.
PRODUCTS: Shared Shelf and ARTstor Digital Library.

AVAILABILITY: Shared Shelf is offered as a subscription service to all higher education institutions internationally, and the Artstor Digital Library is available as a subscription service to universities, community colleges, museums, libraries, and K-12 schools worldwide.

DESCRIPTION: Artstor is a nonprofit devoted to using technology to support teaching, learning, and research. The Artstor Digital Library makes available 1.6 million images to 1,500 educational institutions and museums worldwide. Artstor also offers Shared Shelf, a Web-based media management software service that allows institutions to catalog, edit, store, and share local collections within the Artstor Workspace or on local and open sites.
PRODUCTS: ASTM Standards and Engineering Digital Library.

AVAILABILITY: Offered to all audiences, specifically scientific, technical and engineering markets. Academic, non-Academic and Government.

DESCRIPTION: The ASTM Standards and Engineering Digital Library is a vast collection of industry-leading standards and technical engineering information. The library covers a broad range of engineering disciplines, including aerospace, biomedical, chemical, civil, environmental, geological, health and safety, industrial, materials science, mechanical, nuclear, petroleum, soil science, and solar engineering.

While ASTM is best known for its 13,000 standards, the Standards and Engineering Digital Library also includes nearly every other ASTM publication – 8 journals, more than 1,500 books and 60,000 papers and chapters, dating back to 1932.

These seminal reference publications provide:

- critical insight on the need for a standard as well as the technology and research that lead to its development;
- hands-on guidance on the proper application and interpretation of a standard;
- first-hand accounts of user experiences and their opinions on improvements and future needs.

PRODUCTS: Columbia International Affairs Online (CIAO), Columbia Granger’s World of Poetry, Columbia Gazetteer of the World.

AVAILABILITY: Offered currently (online databases).

DESCRIPTION: Columbia International Affairs Online (CIAO) is the most comprehensive source for theory and research in international affairs. It publishes a wide range of scholarship from 1991 onward that includes working papers from university research institutes, occasional papers series from NGOs, foundation-funded research projects, proceedings from conferences, books, journals and policy briefs.

The Columbia Granger’s World of Poetry contains 250,000 poems in full text and 450,000 citations, numbers that will continually expand with each update. The poems in full text are the most widely-read in the English language, as well as in Spanish, French, German, and Italian. Included also is poetry in Portuguese, Polish, Yiddish, Welsh, Gaelic, and other Celtic languages, as well as poems in the ancient languages: Anglo-Saxon, Provencal and Latin. Scholars in each of these languages have reviewed and guided the selection of poems, so that the poetry on Granger’s is also the poetry encountered in the classroom.

The Columbia Gazetteer of the World Online is the renowned geographic encyclopedia that contains over 170,000 articles or entries on all types of places throughout the world; both physical places and political entities. Most articles have details on where the place is located, its dimensions and borders, and information on economic activities, demographics, history, and former or alternate names and different spellings and pronunciations.

PRODUCTS: Literati Academic AVAILABILITY: Offered currently.
DESCRIPTION: Literati delivers a powerful blend of technology, content and services for a complete solution to help libraries achieve their goals.

Technology: The Literati solution includes embedded tools that guide the user; integration of the library’s existing resources and discovery services (extending their value); tools that measure what works and what doesn’t; and a growing collection of more than 10,000 Topic Pages. Topic Pages alone are valued at over $3.5 million. Additional technologies such as the Mind Map provide a powerful way to visualize and understand the research process.

Content: Academic Core is a librarian-curated collection of award-winning reference works packaged with college and university students in mind. Publishers contributing titles to this collection include Routledge, SAGE, Cambridge University Press, Wiley, Elsevier and many others. Libraries may enhance Academic Core with Credo’s Publisher and Subject Collections, available for perpetual purchase, subscription or individual titles for purchase.

Services: What makes Literati Academic truly unique are the customized and complementary services that are specifically focused on meeting your individual library’s needs for discovery, classroom integration, library promotion, and education and assessment.

As a part of your Literati Academic subscription, our on-staff librarians and educators work with you throughout the year to support your library’s strategic goals and help your students learn the critical thinking and problem solving skills necessary for success beyond campus.

PRODUCTS:
- Reference Modules on ScienceDirect
- ScienceDirect
- Scopus
- Mendeley
- Engineering Village
- Open Access Publishing

AVAILABILITY: Offered to librarians and researchers.

DESCRIPTION: Elsevier is a world-leading provider of scientific, technical and medical information products and services. The company works in partnership with the global science and health communities to publish more than 2,000 journals, including The Lancet and Cell, and close to 20,000 book titles. Elsevier’s online solutions include ScienceDirect, Scopus, and Reaxys.

Reference Modules on ScienceDirect combine thousands of related Elsevier reference work articles into one evolutionary source of trustworthy information now kept current. Continuous review by a renowned editorial board ensures that article updates reflect the most significant developments in the field, as indicated by a time-stamp to show researchers when an article was last reviewed for currency or updated. Reference Modules change the research experience by organizing trustworthy and current information into one useful subject hierarchy that guides users to build foundation knowledge in their primary subject area, broaden perspective in new areas, and stay current where it matters most. They are available beginning September 2013 to ScienceDirect customers.

DESCRIPTION: F1000Prime Identifies Important Articles in Biology and Medicine

If you are a researcher in biology or medicine, F1000Prime could help you stay on top of new developments in your field.

F1000Prime differentiates itself from other subject-specific databases by relying on selected expert scientists and clinical researchers to identify important work in their disciplines. Experts, approximately 5,000 individuals, make article recommendations and then score them. Articles recommended for inclusion are ranked according to how many experts have recommended them.

The database is searchable by the most recommended articles (All Time Top 10), author, area of study and article type. F1000Prime also includes a section, Hidden Jewels, which features articles from the past 14 days published in specialist journals.

PRODUCTS: GeoScienceWorld; OpenGeoSci; GeoScienceWorld eBooks Collections.

AVAILABILITY: GeoScienceWorld and OpenGeoSci are available currently, GeoScienceWorld eBooks Collections launching May 2014. Audience is Librarians, Geoscience professionals and researchers.

DESCRIPTION: GeoScienceWorld (GSW) is a nonprofit collaborative and comprehensive Internet resource for research and communications in the earth sciences, which is built on a core database of peer-reviewed journals and is integrated with the GeoRef abstract and index service. The organization gives global researchers a single point of access to 41 full-text scholarly journals plus specialized searching capabilities and links to millions of relevant resources hosted elsewhere on the Web.

Our mission includes an expansion into additional forms of content relevant to geoscience researchers, including books, datasets, maps, tables, images, and theses, with the further development of services that optimize the discovery and use of public and proprietary resources. Examples of our next initiatives will be available in beta and for trial later this year.

PRODUCTS:  Journal of Visualized Experiments (JoVE)

AVAILABILITY:  Academic/Research Institutions

DESCRIPTION:  JoVE is the world’s first and only video journal for the biological and physical sciences. JoVE was established as a new tool in life science publication and communication, with participation of scientists from leading research institutions. JoVE takes advantage of video technology to capture and transmit the multiple facets and intricacies of life science research. Visualization greatly facilitates the understanding and efficient reproduction of both basic and complex experimental techniques, thereby addressing two of the biggest challenges faced by today’s life science research community: i) low transparency and poor reproducibility of biological experiments and ii) time and labor-intensive nature of learning new experimental techniques.

DESCRIPTION: In November 2013 all Maney journals currently hosted on ingentaconnect will move to our new journal platform, Maney Online. Powered by Atypon’s Literatum platform, our primary goal is to create a user-friendly platform that will be intuitive and easy to navigate but will also have all the tools and functionality required by our end-users. We are working hard to ensure a smooth and seamless transfer from ingentaconnect to Maney Online, with minimal disruption for our customers.

Please visit Sales Manager, Allan Barnett, at the Maney stand to find out more about Maney Online and see a demo of the site, plus learn about our journal developments for 2014.

PRODUCTS: Over 30 scholarly journals are available in print and electronic formats from the MIT Press.

DESCRIPTION: The Journals division of the MIT Press began in 1969 with two quarterly publications. Today, we publish over 30 titles in the arts and humanities, economics, international affairs, history, political science, science and technology. We were one of the first university presses to offer its titles electronically, and the division continues to adopt technologies that allow us to better support the scholarly mission and disseminate our content widely. The division publishes journals owned by the MIT Press as well as journals sponsored by various societies and associations. We offer a suite of traditional and digital services that can be customized to fit each journal’s needs.

OCLC WorldShare Management Services provide a unified, Web-based environment that streamlines acquisitions, circulation, e-resource and license management, and metadata management workflows – and offers a powerful discovery and delivery tool for library users. WorldShare Management Services are built on an open, collaborative platform, so libraries can add features and functions to support their unique communities. www.oclc.org/en-US/worldshare-management-services.html

OCLC WorldShare Metadata Services provides a complete metadata management solution for physical, licensed and digital resources across multiple formats. WorldShare Metadata works with WMS, alternative cloud-based services and traditional integrated library systems. For libraries using WMS, WorldShare Metadata can fully integrate these functions in the same staff interface, improving efficiency for “back office” operations. OCLC also offers a wide range of additional cataloging options to suit varying workflow and collection needs. www.oclc.org/en-US/worldshare-metadata.html

Current WorldCat Resource Sharing libraries are migrating to OCLC WorldShare Interlibrary Loan, which integrates discovery and delivery of electronic, digital and print materials within a single interface. It also supports evolving workflow changes, including the option to purchase needed items rather than borrow them. It centralizes workflows now managed in multiple systems, and provides new functionality that speeds fulfillment of interlibrary loan requests, saving time for your staff and users. www.oclc.org/en-US/worldshare-ill.html

OpinionArchives is an electronic collection of the oldest journals in America in their entirety. These 17 titles of politics, arts, culture, domestic and international coverage, are full text searchable from their inception starting in 1850, to the current print. There are many subscription options from limited to unlimited and annual to perpetual subscriptions. You may Browse by issue or search the full text where PDFs of the original source material will be displayed. Hundreds of schools and libraries have already subscribed to this important collection.

DESCRIPTION: Global academic and professional publisher Palgrave Macmillan publishes journals, textbooks, monographs and reference works in print and online. Our program focuses on Business, Social Sciences, Humanities and Study Skills. Our ebook platform, Palgrave Connect, presents libraries with a flexible approach to building a perpetual ebook collection with over 12,500 titles offered through two models: Subject Collections or Build Your Own Collections. Titles are published simultaneously with the print edition with permissive DRM, and current titles are available in EPUB format. New resources in 2013 include International Historical Statistics and The Palgrave Encyclopedia of Strategic Management. Our journals program has also grown by the introduction of three new journals – American Journal of Cultural Sociology, Journal of Marketing Analytics and International Politics Reviews.

Reference Universe
19th Century Masterfile
Public Documents Masterfile

DESCRIPTION: Reference Universe is the new way to search e-reference and print simultaneously, and realize a return on the sizable investment you’ve made in your library’s reference collection. A single search across nearly 50,000 specialized subject encyclopedias and scholarly compendia allows library users to instantly identify which titles are held by your library, at a level of analysis far deeper than that which a library catalog can provide.

19th Century Masterfile: Students, scholars and historians no longer need to wade through countless printed indexes or scattered electronic files to explore historical literature. 19th Century Masterfile brings all the relevant materials into a single source. In addition to vast indexing sources, 19th Century Masterfile also contains millions of links to full-text sources of value to historians and students. No history department is complete without access to this unparalleled resource.

Public Documents Masterfile 1774-2011 provides single search access to a vast trove of United States government publications. Public Documents Masterfile eases the process of finding documents by aggregating document types into a single search function, accessing resources you know well, and those you might not even have thought to explore. Non-US government agency data is also being expanded.
PROJECTS: Online Journals and ebooks.

AVAILABILITY: Academic, School, Special, and Public Libraries.

DESCRIPTION: Project MUSE is a rich and diverse database of Social Science and Humanities books and journals from more than 200 distinguished university presses and scholarly societies.

Content from over 550 journals is currently offered, including many prestigious flagship titles in their respective disciplines. Journals are available to libraries by subscription in six interdisciplinary collections designed to accommodate the research and budget needs of subscribing institutions. The UPCC Book Collections on Project MUSE consist of more than 23,000 book titles. For 2014, over 100 publishers will make their books available on the Project MUSE platform. Books are available to libraries for purchase or subscription in a variety of collections based on subject area and imprint date. Single title purchasing is available to libraries through YBP.

Project MUSE books and journals provide DRM-free and 100% full-text content; unlimited simultaneous usage, printing, and downloading; mobile accessibility on any PDF-compatible device; and simultaneous print and electronic publication for new content.
