Welcome

Welcome to all who are participating in this year’s Charleston Vendor Showcase. Please take a moment to visit with all our exhibitors and thank them for their support! We have six areas, on two levels, filled with 134 booth spaces for the 2016 Vendor Showcase. Please use this helpful guide, containing all the exhibitors’ locations, products, and contact information, to learn the most about what’s available here at the Charleston Vendor Showcase and in the exciting world of electronic resources, publishing, and bookselling.

As an extra incentive to visit with all of our exhibitors, this year we will hold drawings for prizes in each of the vendor areas throughout the day. Look for the signup boxes in each of the six areas – Prefunction Area A, Carolina Ballroom, Prefunction Area B, Calhoun Room, Pinckney Room, and Gold Ballroom – put in your business card or complete one of our entry cards and you’re entered to win. Each box will note the time of the drawing for that area and you will need to be present to win. Good luck and please enjoy your time with all of our exhibitors.

PRODUCTS:

AVAILABILITY: AAAS/Science e-resources are available via site-wide access to academia, corporations, research institutes, and hospitals.

DESCRIPTION: Science, published by AAAS, is the world’s leading weekly general scientific journal. Science features peer-reviewed, original scientific research articles and reports, science and research news, as well as policy forums and perspectives on current topics. Additional e-resources published by AAAS include Science Classic, Science Signaling, Science Translational Medicine, Science Immunology, Science Robotics (launching December 2016) and Science Advances.

Science Advances is an online-only gold open access journal, and was introduced in February 2015. The journal features high-quality original research in life, physical, environmental, mathematical, engineering, computer, and a trial offer is now available for institutions for the social sciences.

The newest, online-only member of the Science family of journals, Science Immunology, showcases the latest original research, reviews, and research resources in areas that encompass the immune and inflammatory responses in health and disease.

For more information about the journals or to inquire about pricing, email scienceonline@aaas.org.

AVAILABILITY: Offered to university and public libraries, historical societies, community colleges, genealogical associations and government agencies. Free trials and Webinars are available upon request. Accessible Archives has alliances with EBSCO Discovery Service, ExLibris Primo Central, OCLC WorldCat, and ProQuest Summon. Accessible Archives has retained Unlimited Priorities LLC as its exclusive sales and marketing agent.

DESCRIPTION: Our databases are comprised of 18th and 19th century primary source content and feature keyed text and full page images, with color where available. This content is fully searchable utilizing our latest interface release incorporating books, journals and newspapers. Much of this content is exclusively available from Accessible Archives!

PRODUCTS: Bevara Preserve
Bevara Access

AVAILABILITY: Bevara Preserve 30-day free trials and site licenses are available to academic, medical, corporate, government, and public libraries and publishers. Bevara Access is available free-of-charge via website download to library and publisher customers.

DESCRIPTION: The Bevara Preserve software application is a one-click tool for ensuring digital content is forever accessible. It packages a platform-independent Accessor with the original content and its metadata. The compact Accessor adds minimal overhead to the resulting bvr file, but contains all of the software required for decoding and interpreting the content. It eliminates the need for format conversion and migration, since your data are always stored in their original format. Both the bvr file format and the platform-independent Accessor are open-source so that your original content is readily accessible via the complementary Bevara Access software or through extraction from the bvr file. The Bevara Access software is provided free-of-charge via a website download. With one click, your patrons can play back or display your original content, no matter what the format. The Access software application uses the Accessor packaged with the content to generate a content player on-the-fly on your patrons' devices, so you no longer have to worry about generating content in or converting content to formats that won't be supported by new generations of devices.

PRODUCTS: Brepols Online Books
Index Religiosus. International Bibliography of Theology, Church History and Religious Studies
Patrologia Orientalis Database
International Bibliography of Humanism and the Renaissance (IBHR)

AVAILABILITY: All products offered currently.

DESCRIPTION: Brepols Online Books provides instant online access to cutting-edge research on all subject areas of the Humanities, published in more than 1350 eBook titles. With online access to essential scholarly content, published in well-established series, Brepols Online Books offers enhanced usability and accessibility to Frontlist, Backlist and Archival content hitherto only available in print.

The Index Religiosus endeavours to become the international reference bibliography for academic publications in Theology and Religious Studies. It covers publications written in various European languages (English, French, German, Italian, Spanish, Dutch, etc.) and is the result of collaboration between the Catholic University of Louvain and the KU Leuven.

The Patrologia Orientalis Database (POD) is a collection of patristic texts from the Christian East, including works, recorded in non-Latin languages, that come from geographical, cultural, or religious contexts somehow linked to Rome or the Eastern Roman Empire.

The International Bibliography of Humanism and the Renaissance (IBHR) is an international reference bibliography of academic publications covering the early modern period. The IBHR, which was formerly published by the Librairie Droz as Bibliographie Internationale de l’Humanisme et de la Renaissance, has recently been acquired by Brepols Publishers.

PRODUCTS: For over 25 years, Bureau van Dijk has delivered unrivaled business intelligence and company information. We have particular expertise in private company data, corporate ownership structures and global M&A tracking and rumors.

AVAILABILITY: Our information is used across a range of business challenges including for academic research. Many leading universities and business schools are part of our clientele. Librarians, in particular, choose Bureau van Dijk because they can support multiple internal clients with one research solution.

DESCRIPTION: Bureau van Dijk has a long history of providing business information solutions to academic institutions.

Orbis, our flagship database, includes financial information, corporate structures and more on over 200 million companies worldwide. Financial reports are standardized to allow easy global comparisons, and users can search criteria to find companies with common characteristics. With extensive international coverage, of mostly private entities, Orbis is the definitive database of global companies.

We’re also a leader in corporate ownership data. Use Orbis to learn how entities are connected or to identify shareholders and beneficial owners. We identify beneficial owners and research shareholders and subsidiaries at every level so you can define the level of ownership percent you want to view, down to 0.01%.

Zephyr is our comprehensive database of deal information. Zephyr has unmatched coverage (more details are added to Zephyr than similar deal databases) and bespoke editorial (our team of journalists brings you its views on the latest rumors).

Our data is also WRDS accessible.

DESCRIPTION: Casalini Libri is a family-run business, established by Mario Casalini in 1958 and now recognized as one of the leading suppliers of publications from across Europe to libraries and institutions worldwide. Currently under the direction of Mario’s children, the ninety-strong team remains both faithful to the traditions of the business and committed to innovation. Recently, Casalini Libri has been an active member in the translation of RDA into Italian, and is currently heavily involved in work on the development of tools based on the BIBFRAME model.

We aim to advance the profile of European culture and scholarship across the globe, providing a first-class bibliographic search and supply service for academic libraries and supporting institutions in facing the challenges of scholarly publishing in a changing market.

Assisting libraries in the development of their collections has always been central to our objectives. Our efficient and personalized services for academic and research libraries combine the supply of print and electronic publications with a range of solutions designed to facilitate selection, acquisition and processing workflows: from tailored new title information to approval selections, online order management, RDA cataloguing and shelf-ready processing.

PRODUCTS: Credo Online Reference Service, Essentials Collections, InfoLit Modules, Issue Briefs, and Credo Education Solutions

AVAILABILITY: Currently offered to libraries of all types.

DESCRIPTION: Libraries partner with Credo to build their online reference collections through our award-winning Credo Online Reference platform. We help libraries shift from print to e-reference collections, improve the quality of student exploratory search and research experiences, and drive awareness and usage of library resources. Essentials Collections curate award-winning, classic, and peer-acclaimed content which is ideal for launching the research process. With your library budget in mind, the Essentials Collections cover a range of in-demand subjects and provide an authoritative foundation of reference for students and faculty. Many libraries also work with Credo to develop custom collections curated around specific collection development priorities, new courses, print transition plans, or other criteria.

The InfoLit Modules are Credo’s answer to the growing need for libraries to conduct formalized, standards-driven information literacy instruction both in-person and online.

Issue Briefs dig deeply into issues to explain their relevance in the modern world - providing foundational knowledge, cultivating familiarity and keyword vocabulary, and covering a wide range of topics from unbiased sources. Issue briefs average 1,750 words in length and 3–4 are directly published every week with no delay, making them easily digestible for all levels.

PRODUCTS: Film Platform Documentary Streaming Service (Full Catalogue Subscription, A-la-Carte/Per Title Acquisition, and PDA Subscriptions available).

AVAILABILITY: Our streaming service is offered to academic institutions around the world (K-12 and post secondary).

DESCRIPTION: Film Platform provides highly curated, exclusive film content to school libraries, through our high-speed and user-friendly streaming service. Films on the platform are dominated by highly visible documentaries such as this year’s Oscar nominees, The Look of Silence, Cartel Land and The Hunting Ground. Our collection is meticulously curated by film experts and leading academics, bringing critically-acclaimed documentaries from the world’s top film festivals straight into your library’s catalogue.

Our subject areas include International Politics, Human Rights, Gender Studies, Technology, Sociology and Anthropology and many more, showcasing award-winning films of social, political and cultural importance. Alongside the films themselves, we offer educational materials (including press kits, academic articles, and reading list) to help educators to incorporate these films into their curriculum. We also offer the opportunity for Skype Q+As with the filmmakers, introducing a powerful new dimension to class discussions. Film Platform allows educators to connect with the documentary films that best support their educational objectives, and our streaming service makes it easy for these films to be watched, shared and enjoyed.

Our platform offers easy IP authenticated access for users, MARC records, and seamless integration with campus learning management systems.

DESCRIPTION: The Institution of Engineering and Technology is one of the world’s largest engineering institutions with over 167,000 members in 150 countries. Our mission is to inspire, inform and influence the global engineering community, supporting technology innovation to meet the needs of society. The IET’s publishing, dates back to 1882, making us a trusted source of engineering intelligence and thought leadership.

The IET’s academic publishing portfolio offers invaluable resources for libraries and researchers. With flexible solutions and a variety of packages, we can help users access the content most relevant to them across journals, eBooks and A&I through Inspec. IET.tv offers a fresh way to start the research journey with over 8,000 videos and links to other relevant content.

We are pleased to announce developments to Inspec, the world leading A&I database for engineering and physics. These include indexing arXiv content and the development of ground-breaking AI to enable better discovery across a wider range of disciplines and lead to the discovery of new ideas and connected research topics.

JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization committed to advancing and preserving knowledge, and to improving teaching and learning through the use of digital technologies.

Within two decades, we have launched three of the most transformative and widely-used services in education: JSTOR, Portico, and Ithaka S+R — and recently our strategic alliance with Artstor has allowed us to further enhance our mission by facilitating access to its services for researchers, teachers, and students worldwide.

DESCRIPTION: JSTOR is one of the world's leading academic databases, powering the research and learning of 6+ million users each month. Launched in 1997, JSTOR allows scholars, students, and the public to access a vast array of journals, books, primary sources, and other content that spans a range of disciplines in the social sciences, sciences, and humanities.

Portico is a community-supported digital "dark" archive preserving 1 billion+ files — comprised of e-books, e-journals and other digital materials. It was created in 2002 with the support of libraries and publishers to ensure that the world's scholarship, now stored and disseminated largely in digital form, will be accessible to future generations.

Ithaka S+R provides research and strategic guidance to help the academic community navigate economic and technological change. Ithaka S+R works with foundations, libraries, publishers, universities and other cultural organizations to help them thrive in these challenging new environments.

Artstor specializes in digital collection solutions for universities, museums, schools, and libraries. The ever-growing Digital Library offers high-quality images for education and research from museums, photo archives, scholars, and artists around the world, and Shared Shelf is a complete set of tools to manage digital collections and make them more discoverable. PRODUCTS: The MediaPreserve is an audiovisual laboratory that specializes in preserving vintage film, video, and audio collections by creating high-quality digital archival masters and use copies.

AVAILABILITY: The MediaPreserve was founded in 2006 as an audiovisual laboratory designed for the digital age. We have worked with over 300 of the leading research libraries in North America to preserve their audiovisual collections that have slowly become unusable due to machine obsolescence or degrading tape quality.

DESCRIPTION: The MediaPreserve is located in Cranberry Township, PA and works with clients around the globe to preserve vintage media collections. Our audio, video, and film engineers are experts in their fields and have established processes based on leading edge research to create premium digital recordings for your entire media archive, no matter how diverse the formats of your recordings.

Our state-of-the-art studios contain both vintage equipment to play back obsolete recordings and advanced technology to create high-quality digital recordings. We provide careful, cost-effective, and efficient transfers, and we are committed to creating customized programs based on the needs and infrastructure of each client.

We can provide your library with digital files to suit your specific needs, including a preservation master for long term storage, an intermediary file for editing purposes, and a streaming copy for patron use or for featuring on your website. We also have a number of librarians and archivists on our staff who are uniquely familiar with your institutional needs and specialize in creating metadata that meet your libraries specification. We can accommodate any existing schema, including METS, Dublin Core, and MODS. With The MediaPreserve, your valuable collections are safe, restored, and available.

PRODUCTS: MLA International Bibliography, MLA Handbook, 8th ed.

AVAILABILITY: The Bibliography is geared to university students and scholars, but it can also benefit general or younger users. Subscriptions are offered to libraries through three vendors: EBSCO, Gale Group, and ProQuest. The MLA Handbook is used by high school and undergraduate students, and guides writers through the principles behind evaluating sources for their research. It then shows them how to cite sources in their writing and create useful entries for the works-cited list.

DESCRIPTION: The MLA International Bibliography is a bibliography of journal articles, books, Web sites, and dissertations. It is published by the Modern Language Association, and provides a subject index for books and articles published on modern languages, film, literatures, folklore, and linguistics. It is compiled by the staff of the MLA Office of Bibliographic Information Services with the cooperation of more than 100 contributing bibliographers in the United States and abroad. Available online, the MLA International Bibliography annually indexes over 66,000 books and articles. The eighth edition of the MLA Handbook takes a fresh look at documenting sources. In this groundbreaking new edition of its best-selling handbook, the MLA recommends one universal set of guidelines for documentation, which writers can apply to any type of source. Shorter, redesigned for easy use, and available at a lower price, the eighth edition of the MLA Handbook is not just a new edition, it’s a new MLA style.

AVAILABILITY: Published Digitally, (also available as print on demand) for anyone interested in content geared towards upper level Engineering, Computer and Information Science and the Life Sciences. Written for researchers, students, faculty and lay people wishing to learn.

DESCRIPTION: Both SYNTHESIS and COLLOQUIUM DIGITAL LIBRARIES are innovative information services for the research, development and educational communities in Engineering and Computer and Information Science (SYNTHESIS) and Life Sciences (COLLOQUIUM). The basic component of each library is a 50- to 200-page electronic book that synthesizes an important research or development topic, authored by a prominent contributor to the field.

The series includes books from across the entire spectrum of computer science subject matter, appealing to computing practitioners, researchers, educators, and students. The series will initially focus on four kinds of books: graduate level textbooks; research monographs that provide an overview of established and emerging fields; practitioner level professional books; and books devoted to the history and social impact of computing.

AVAILABILITY: Empower your patrons and colleagues with access to The Times in digital or print formats. Now including Book Review.

DESCRIPTION: Through The New York Times’s special program for libraries, you can now offer your patrons and colleagues access to all The Times has to offer.

With our easy-to-implement solutions, your constituents can easily enjoy the breaking news, photography, and video content on NYTimes.com, both on-site and off-site. And, as an optional add-on, you can even have printed copies of The Times and our popular Book Review publication delivered to your library.

For more information on how your library can partner with The Times, visit Table 55 and speak with Barbara or Andrew.
PRODUCTS:
- WorldShare Management Services (WMS)
- WorldCat Discovery Services
- Sustainable Collection Services (SCS)

AVAILABILITY:
All offered currently to libraries.

DESCRIPTION:
WorldShare Management Services (WMS) are an integrated suite of cloud-based library management and discovery applications packaged together to give librarians a comprehensive and cost-effective way to manage library workflows and improve access to library collections and services.

WorldCat Discovery Services provide single search box access to your electronic, physical and digital collections. Facets and objective, nonbiased relevancy rankings retrieve the most relevant content from WorldCat and your local collections.

Sustainable Collection Services (SCS) provides tools and services to help manage and share print monographs. SCS provides customized consulting services in areas related to collection analysis, deaccession, record maintenance and materials movement. SCS tools enable carefully managed drawdown of low-use print monograph collections while supporting shared print archiving efforts.

PRODUCTS:
- 19th Century Masterfile 1106-1930
- Reference Universe 1975-2017
- U.S. Documents Masterfile 1774-2017

AVAILABILITY: Currently available. Advanced undergraduate, graduate and post-doctoral research.

DESCRIPTION: Students, scholars and historians no longer need to wade through countless printed indexes or scattered electronic files to explore historical literature. 19th Century Masterfile 1106-1930 brings all the relevant materials into a single source. In addition to vast indexing sources, 19th Century Masterfile 1106-1930 also contains millions of links to full-text sources of value to historians and students. No history department is complete without access to this unparalleled resource.

Reference Universe 1975-2017 is the new way to search e-reference and print simultaneously, and realize a return on the sizable investment you've made in your library's reference collection. A single search across nearly 50,000 specialized subject encyclopedias and scholarly compendia allows library users to instantly identify which titles are held by your library, at a level of analysis far deeper than that which a library catalog can provide.

U.S. Documents Masterfile 1774-2017 provides single search access to a vast trove of United States government publications. U.S. Documents Masterfile 1774-2017 eases the process of finding documents by aggregating document types into a single search function – accessing resources you know well, and those you might not even have thought to explore. Non-U.S. government agency data is also being expanded.

PRODUCTS: The IP Registry

AVAILABILITY: Access offered to 60,000 libraries and 5,000 publishers worldwide

DESCRIPTION: Attendees will learn how to register for and use a powerful real-time database containing the IP ranges for 60,000+ content licensing institutions worldwide. Data has been provided by 150+ STM publishers. Libraries access much of the digital content they license on publisher or aggregator platforms where institutions are authenticated via single IP addresses or ranges thereof. In 58% of cases the IPs held are either incorrect, over-lapping or duplicated and this is a major cause of over-inflated and or incorrect usage statistics. The community managed www.theIPregistry.org service allows libraries to check and correct the ranges held free of charge. Historically, the process for updating IP ranges held was time-consuming and cumbersome involving multiple emails to each publisher supplier. Using www.theIPregistry.org, librarians and information professionals can register and confirm updates in just a few clicks. Publishers’ access management systems are updated automatically via an API link.

DESCRIPTION: Rockefeller University Press has published significant biomedical research for over 100 years. Our parent institution is the world’s leading biomedical research university and is dedicated to conducting innovative, high-quality research to improve the understanding of life for the benefit of humanity. Rockefeller University Press focuses on three high-impact publications, the Journal of Cell Biology (JCB), Journal of Experimental Medicine (JEM), and Journal of General Physiology (JGP). Founded in 1955, JCB is the original international cell biology journal. JCB provides a rigorous forum for publication of topics across the complete spectrum of cell biology, publishing morphological, biophysical, and biochemical investigations of cells, their components, and their products. With 120 years of history, JEM continues to publish seminal work in all areas of experimental medicine with a current emphasis on immunological and disease research. JEM’s subject areas include immunology, microbiology, virology, and neuroscience, as well as vascular, stem cell, and cancer biology. JEM also champions basic research on human subjects. Founded in 1918, JGP provides a crucial forum for scientists from many disciplines to contribute to the growing pool of physiological knowledge. JGP publishes articles that elucidate important biological, chemical, or physical mechanisms of broad physiological significance.

PRODUCTS:  Yewno
AVAILABILITY:  Yewno launched a beta trial beginning in April 2016 welcoming a core group of beta-trialists since then, including Berkeley, Harvard, MIT, Stanford, Stonehill College, and the University of Michigan among others.  Yewno officially launched at ALA Annual 2016 and is currently available for academic institutions and research libraries.

DESCRIPTION:  Yewno’s mission is that of extracting valuable insights from an overwhelming quantity of un-structured data.  By building a next generation knowledge-retrieval engine leveraging computational linguistics, network theory and machine learning, Yewno aims to help people overcome the information overload problem, and to research and understand the world in a more natural manner.
 Far from traditional search which uses keyword position and assigns weight to frequency, Yewno applies algorithms to full text content, and successfully extracts knowledge from the text, applying concepts and meaning.  Yewno’s technology utilizes knowledge graphs to laterally display results, helping to deal with fragmented information and make sense of this to help people find connections that they didn’t even know to look for.

Yewno’s graph’s design provides the visualization of correlated concepts and links between data, encouraging students and researchers to explore information differently, think critically about it and extract new meaning from it, thus devising new flows of reasoning.  This semantic retrieval of linked knowledge mimics the way an inference is formed in the human brain when concepts are connected through rationale, which is fundamental to understanding.
